House fire in Plainwell results in one fatality

By JASON WESSELDYK
SPORTS EDITOR

PLAINWELL—A residential fire in Plainwell on Saturday evening resulted in one fatality, according to officials with the Plainwell Department of Public Safety.

The victim was later identified as 58-year-old Ted Ray Hughes, Jr.

The fire was reported at approximately 8:25 p.m. March 28, in the 400 block of North Main Street after an off-duty firefighter with the Martin Fire Department observed smoke and flames coming from a residence and radioed the information to dispatch.

A Plainwell Department of Public Safety officer arrived on scene within seconds, according to Director of Public Safety Kevin Callahan, and reported heavy black smoke coming from the front of the home. visible fire in multiple rooms on the north side of the structure were also reported.

Due to the severity of the fire, mutual aid was requested from the Gun Plain Fire Department, Martin Township Fire Department and Otsego Fire Department.

Within approximately two minutes, a fire attack crew entered the residence to begin suppression efforts. Firefighters encountered heavy smoke conditions throughout the home, with a rear bedroom and its contents fully involved in flames.

After several minutes on scene, firefighters received information indicating a possible victim inside the residence. A second crew entered the home under heavy smoke and fire conditions and located Hughes.

Hughes was removed from the structure and transferred to a waiting ambulance, where the individual was pronounced deceased at the scene.

Officials were continuing their investigation into a house fire at 414 N. Main St. in Plainwell that claimed the life of 58-year-old Ted Ray Hughes, Jr. (Photo by Jason Wesseldyk)

Firefighters were able to extinguish the fire and secure the scene. No other injuries were reported.

Agencies assisting at the scene included the Gun Plain Fire Department, Otsego Fire Department, Martin Township Fire Department, Life EMS, Plainwell EMS, Michigan State Police Wayland Post, Department of Public Safety and the Michigan State Police Fire Investigation Unit.

Anyone with information is asked to contact the Plainwell Department of Public Safety at (269) 685-9858 or Allegan County Central Dispatch at (269) 673-3899.

Saturday's incident marks the fourth residential fire in Plainwell since December.

Previous fires occurred in the 100 block of South Sherwood Avenue in December, the 400 block of South Main Street in early March and the 900 block of Second Division Street later that same month, according to Callahan.

Those fires promptly Callahan to release a public service announcement on March 4, reminding Plainwell residents of the importance of working smoke detectors and basic fire safety equipment.

High-Speed internet is finally reaching Allegan County's rural corners

By Art Nicholas

For years, many residents across Allegan County faced a frustrating reality: living in modern Michigan but unable to stream a video, attend a virtual doctor's appointment, or complete homework reliably. A sweeping broadband initiative — now essentially complete — is changing that picture dramatically, connecting thousands of rural households to fiber-optic internet for the first time.

"We are pleased with the progress made with the Allegan County Broadband Improvement project to bring high-speed internet to county residents. This expansion of internet services to Allegan County households has an impact on people's safety, well-being, healthcare, and education" County Administrator Rob Sarro remarked.

The centerpiece of the effort is a $65 million public-private partnership between Allegan County and 123NET, a Southfield-based internet provider. The project, funded in part by a $30 million ROBIN (Realizing Opportunities with Broadband Infrastructure Networks) grant from the Michigan High Speed Internet Office, along with $17.5 million each from Allegan County's American Rescue Plan Act funds and 123NET itself, set out to construct roughly 1,100 miles of high-capacity fiber across the county.

123Net owns the infrastructure but the organization is open to creating wholesale type agreements with other carriers. These agreements could include IRU fiber leases or the sale of layer 2 access similar to arrangements that happen in the cellular network industry.

The project's progress has been remarkable. Construction began with the connection of the county's first residential customer in Shelbyville in November 2023. Since then, the build-out has accelerated steadily. According to Sarro the finish line is essentially in sight.

"As a result of these efforts, 99% of the new 123NET fiber backbone has now been completed, and 97.4% of the targeted addresses are connected and able to utilize reliable high-speed internet."

Of the roughly 18,000 residents who now have access to 123NET services, 6,331 have signed up as active customers — a 35% take rate across the service area. The County noted that the real adoption rate among households with no prior high-speed alternative is likely considerably higher, since many of those customers had been relying solely on satellite service or cellular data before fiber arrived.

From 123NET's perspective, the Allegan County project has been a milestone unlike any other in the company's history. Justin Lampman, COO of 123NET, described the rollout as a landmark achievement.

"This marks 123NET's first large-scale grant-initiated project," Lampman said. "What makes it especially meaningful is the impact. Many of these areas previously had little to no reliable internet options, with some residents limited to satellite service. Through the ROBIN grant, we have been able to deliver high-speed fiber connectivity to tional carriers operating in or around Allegan County, each serving distinct geographic pockets. A public-private partnership between Lee Township and 123Net covers an additional 600 addresses; Mercury Broadband is designated for approximately 1,218; Midwest Energy & Communications serves around 2,274; Bloomingdale Communications covers about 616; Trustream is slated for approximately 937; and Charter Spectrum is listed for around 80 addresses. Three of those providers — Midwest Energy & Communications, Mercury Broadband, and Charter Spectrum — received funding through the federal Rural Digital Opportunity Fund (RDOF), while Bloomingdale Communications secured USDA ReConnect funding for areas bordering Van Buren County.

Allegan County has approximately 2,000 additional addresses included in the BEAD (Broadband Equity Access and Deployment) grant, part of the landmark Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act of 2021. Construction under BEAD is not expected to begin until 2027, and 194 of those addresses are slated to be served by Starlink satellite service, with the majority set to receive fiber.

"Thanks to these collective advancements, an impressive 96% of Allegan County residents now have access to high-speed internet services. As Allegan County concludes this Broadband Improvement project, our commitment remains steadfast. We will continue to support communities in identifying opportunities, rallying local engagement, and leveraging available resources to further increase the presence of internet service providers in areas that need it most." Sarro explained.

For a county that has long ranked among Michigan's more rural and underserved, the transformation already underway represents a generational shift. The combination of a determined county government, a willing private partner, and more than $65 million in combined investment has made Allegan a case study in what coordinated broadband expansion can accomplish — even as the work of ensuring every last address is covered continues.

Residents with questions about coverage can contact the Allegan County Broadband Project at broadband@allegancounty.org.

Easter Egg Hunt, conservation workshop highlight weekend

The weekend of March 28, 2026, not only included an Arts & Music Festival and a No Kings Protest in Allegan, but opportunities for people to think spring and get out-of-doors.

Across town at Jaycee Park, the grassy area was littered with hundreds upon hundreds of eggs of all colors. They were ready for the Annual Jaycee Easter Egg Eggstravaganza. Hundreds of children, ages 0-12, lined up along the Dog Park fence to the restrooms waiting for the signal to be given. The youngest group went first. Once they had cleared their area, the middle agers were released then the oldest group. Within a matter of 20 minutes, the once colorful, egg strewn lawn was free from eggs and returned to its springtime color. The Jaycees is an organization for anyone age 18-40. To learn more about membership, to <https://alleganjaycees.com/>.

Sat., Mar. 28, 2026, from 2-4pm, the Southwest Michigan Land Conservancy held a workshop at the Armintrout-Milbocker Nature Preserve at the end of Thomas Street. Participants could bring a notebook and learn the basics of Nature Journaling - sitting, observing, and recording the beauties of nature. Photo: courtesy of SWMLC

At the Allegan District Library, the Allegan County Food Alliance held their annual Seed Fair. Those in attendance could pick up free vegetable and flower seeds. Workshops were held to assist new gardeners with the basics and expert gardeners with enhancements to their established gardens. While parents and grandparents “shopped”, the children could create pictures using seeds. For those who may have missed Saturday’s event, a request for free seeds can be made at <https://alleganfoodalliance.org/>. To become involved with this grassroots organization, speak with Mary Colborn.

Art in the Garden set for April 18

The Allegan Area Arts Council is proud to present its 16th Annual Art in the Garden fundraiser, which will be held on April 18, 2026 at the Silo, 1071 M-40 South, in Allegan, from 10:00-4:00. Proceeds from this free, fun-filled, family-centered event will fund art camp scholarships for Allegan County students grades 8-11. This year's logo is based on a design by Credence Miling, a 2025 AAAC Summer Art Camp participant.

The Art in the Garden theme this year is "A Bouquet of Arts". We have a full house of vendors and artists for our always exciting Artists Market. For your shopping pleasure, there will be live music throughout the day by Iron Bridge Strings, with our featured band Whiskey & Wine taking the stage at 1:30.

From 10:00-3:30 the Creative Corner has free make-and-take activities for the young and young at heart! There is an activity for everyone—from creating a mini fairy/dino/gnome garden with real plants—to sculpting—to creating a piece of art based on the artist's name. Activities are ongoing! Plan to attend Story Time at 10:30 and Instrument Petting Zoo from 2:00-3:00.

At 10:30, members of the poetry group North will be reading Ekphrastic poems created in response to prints and paintings supplied by local artists. The poems, prints/paintings, and other pieces of art will be featured in the Silent Auction Area.

Workshops will be taking place on the lower level of the Silo. Advance tickets are available at Something Sweet for You and The Bear & Fox Den. Make a Bloomin' Beautiful Crochet Necklace with Drew Emborsky, aka The Crochet Dude; participants will learn how to create dimensional crochet flowers and will leave the class with a finished or nearly finished piece of wearable art. All supplies will be provided. Basic crochet skills (chain, single crochet and double crochet) are recommended.

The Art of Miniature Moss Gardening workshop begins with a brief discussion of moss and Japanese miniature gardening. Attendees will create their own miniature living moss garden. Moss, containers and stones will be provided. However, participants are encouraged to bring their own meaningful rocks or tokens for embellishment.

Allegan Arts Festival brings talent from across the Midwest

By Gari Voss

The halls of Allegan High School were filled with vendors selling all kinds of arts and crafts, the main stage held performances featuring instrumental and dance performances, Artist Hall held additional talent, the gym held demonstrations by Native Dancers, and a Petting Zoo allowed individuals to not only look at but try playing favorite acoustic instruments. All the while, musicians and even some cloggers came to join the easy or more advanced Jam Sessions. It was the Third Annual

Allegan Folklife Music & Art Festival, Saturday, March 28, 2026. In the auditorium, the day began with the Allegan High School Symphonic Band that featured their own percussion duet, brass trio, and pianist. The acclaimed Grand Valley State Trumpet Ensemble performed “Midsummer Night’s Dream”, and Dr. Alex Wilson was featured in “The Maid of the Mist”. Other Main Stage offerings included Serita Rose, Scoil Rince Ni Bhraonain Dance School Irish Dancing, The Great Lakes Brass Band, the Whateverly Brothers, and the final concert by The Whistle Pigs Brass Band from Indiana. Additional entertainment could be found in “Artists Hall” where the Original Dulcimer Club of Kalamazoo shared their music, the Great Lakes Cloggers of Jackson danced then taught clogging, and Rene Meave added vocals and guitar. Around the school, Native American Tribal Dance was demonstrated in the gym, the Instrument Petting Zoo gathered in the Conference Center, and Rene Meave offered a workshop in the Choir

Room. The Folklife Music Festival can offer this free-entry gathering thanks to the generosity of the Michigan Arts & Culture Council and the Allegan County Community Foundation, plus local support from the Allegan Public Schools, Knucklebusters Garage, Wilcox News, Broken Arrow Recycling & Disposal, the City of Allegan, and all of the talented vendors who display and sell their wonderful wares.

Special thanks were given to Leah Ward of the K’Zoo Folklife, Allegan Chapter whose leadership gathers the talent and to the Great Lakes Acoustic Music Association (GLAMA) that supported the jam sessions.

Allegan student accepted to West Point

By Gari Voss

Juniors and Seniors begin making decisions regarding post high school during their junior or early senior year in high school. That decision may be made with the assistance of parents, counselors, teachers, peers, or trusted adults. For Eliza DeLaet, the seed was planted during a conversation with her respected music teacher Rebecca Balkon and has taken her on quite the journey to West Point Military Academy.

Eliza had thought about college but wavered on her major and the best post-graduation location. As the fourth sibling of five, Eliza had watched her older sisters and brother choose a variety of paths after high school. During her K-12 years, Eliza had chosen to participate in a number of extracurricular activities – swimming, choir, drama, and scouts.

When Eliza was asked when she realized that she was honing her leadership skills, her response was insightful.

“I think that leadership begins with how to be part of a team. I have four siblings, and we have always been a team, like cleaning the kitchen, the house, and yard. Being alone was never an option. . . Just the family dynamics, and my older sister, Naomi, who was a leader and helped us not get on our parents’ nerves or step on their toes.”

As Eliza continued to consider the question, “In 5th grade, I joined Scouts. My older brother was in scouts, and they had just allowed girls to join Boys Scouts. I was excited because I had been in Girl Scouts for a little while, but they didn’t go outside as much as I wanted. I’m a very outdoorsy person, and wanted to be exactly like my older brother, Clyde. So, I was very excited to do meetings and campouts with him. Scouts is all about how to become a leader in your community in a morally straight and environmentally friendly way.”

Then in sixth grade, COVID hit. Members left the girls’ troop. Eliza shared that the girls’ troop was separate from the boy’s troop, and even though it was co-ed, the girls had their own leaders. This narrowed the options for the girls to take leadership roles. “I was put into a senior patrol leader position, which is the highest leadership position. I only had to manage four other girls, but some were two years older than I was. For a sixth grader, that is a big difference. My troop was very supportive, so it was still a team, and I was still learning how to be the leader.”

The situation changed when Eliza’s younger brother, John, joined scouts. Eliza was in a leadership position and learned to balance being a leader for someone who knew her from home. The situation assisted her in growing as a leader who needed to delegate tasks.

Swimming became another anchor for Eliza. “I really think it had a more profound impact on my life than any other activity, truly. I’ve been swimming for almost 14 years, and it really taught me discipline, both mentally and physical-ly. Nowhere else have I found such a loving non-biological family as my swim team. The sport provided me with stability as I moved schools during COVID, and gave me my first friends in the new school.”

Along with scouts and swimming, Eliza has a love for music and theater. She loved her sister’s voice and wanted to follow in her footsteps. She joined the choir in 6th grade when she reached middle school. During COVID, Zoom choir classes did not work very well. It was when Eliza got to high school, and she was selected for Chamber Choir, that Ms. Balkon became more than a teacher with authority.

Following in Naomi’s footsteps, Eliza found that she loved theater and being on stage. She realized the importance of her castmates. Each year, the cast changes as people drop away and others step forward, but each cast creates a special environment. When preparing for a production of The Curious Savage, Eliza found that it was really special being a member of the cast. “Although it was a play, not a musical, I had so much fun rehearsing and performing because of the atmosphere the cast created.”

Eliza realized that each year seniors acted their last hurrah, and this year’s plays were her last hurrahs. Everything is rather bittersweet. When considering thespian experiences, at first, she thought that performing in well-known plays and musicals would be the most rewarding experiences. Then she came to Allegan that did lesser known productions. After being in the cast for The Curious Savage, Girls in the Boat, and Working: The Musical, “I found that I liked the lesser known productions. I liked the small casts. It was easier to feel like a family with them.”

When asked about decisions for college, Eliza admitted, “I had procrastinated. I have been afraid to grow up. We are so excited to grow up and be just like our parents and working seems so fun. I didn’t want to be treated like a child, but it is scary. I wasn’t prepared for this. In my junior year, my dad reminded me that we had to go and look at colleges. But during my junior year, I was studying for my SAT and getting ready for AP exams. I just wasn’t ready to drop everything. I was scared. I felt that if I physically took that step, it would be more real.”

When considering a major, neuro-science seemed the goal. Eliza loved learning about neurons and the nervous system, plus the 6-figure income was a factor. Then she took a psychology class. When studying the unit on neuro-science, that interest faded. Behavioral Science came to the foreground because of Eliza’s love of learning how the brain works based on social cues and experiences. Thus, it was no longer a passion to learn how nerves fire, but how people behaved.

This began a new path for exploring post-high school options. “What really drew me to the military was PTSD. In addition, I wanted to be able to support myself. So, the military drew me in even as a freshman because I was thinking that I could go to any college I wanted then serve afterward.”

After conversations with her grandparents, she found that neither of her grandfathers, who had served, wanted to discuss their experiences that had traumatized them. That piqued Eliza’s interest further.

Her thoughts took her to consider the Navy where she could use her swimming abilities or to fly in helicopters. But near the end of her junior year, Ms. Balkon planted the thought to apply to one of the military academies rather than wait to serve until after college. “She had a lot of faith in me,” reflected Eliza. “I thought, ‘Why not? What is the worst they can do? Tell me no?’ I would never know if I didn’t try.”

Between her junior and senior years, Eliza attended a meeting led by representatives from all of the military academies. She met Representative Bill Huizenga who spoke about the academies and the nomination process.

“I felt behind because the application process had already started,” explained Eliza. “People at the meeting seemed to already know about the military and about the programs, the process, and exactly what they wanted their path to be. I was fresh to everything.”

Eliza pushed beyond her comfort zone and the uneasy feelings. It took a couple days to fill out her portal. But once the ball started rolling, her teachers were extremely supportive.

“I couldn’t stop the process,” remembers Eliza. “As I continued with the process, it became more than doing it because other people thought I could do it. I actually wanted to do it and looked into West Points’ Behavioral Science program. That made me excited, especially because of the Psych class I took in the fall. It was the most interesting class I had taken in my life, and ed to serve people who live with combat-based trauma.”

The process really began in the fall of 2025. Eliza was busy with the varsity swim season that was in full swing, Girls in the Boat rehearsals, and the Honors Choir performance coming soon. But she had to begin her nomination process, so there were letters to write to her representative and senators.

On the same Saturday as the choir performance, she had Zoom interviews with Elissa Slotkin’s and Bill Huizenga’s teams. On Sunday, there was the meeting with Gary Peters. Eliza felt fortunate that one of her scout leaders, Sean Seaver, had sons who went into the military. His insight into the strictness of military life and expectations were extremely helpful in preparing for the interviews.

“He helped me to prepare with more than just information; he held mock interviews with me and helped me build my confidence before the interviews,” explained Eliza. Those interviews brought two letters of acceptance and one of rejection.

Because the interviews were on the weekend after Thanksgiving, Eliza expected the decision to arrive in December or early January. Over Christmas, the mail was being held at the post office because a snowplow had run over the DeLaet’s mailbox. In addition, the government shutdown took a toll. Thus, letters did not get sent until mid-January. Eliza knew that being nominated was not an automatic ticket to West Point, but she felt that the nomination showed that someone believed in her, and this was really powerful.

Then there were the health examination and physical fitness test. “My sister, Isabelle, made me workout every day. Mr. Tony Danzig, the physical education teacher, oversaw the physical elements, but there was an examination by a doctor who was approved by the academies. The physical fitness portion had to be postponed because of the week of snow days, and the health examination results were held up.”

Applications were due January 31, 2026, which made it extremely important to have the nominations in hand. She still had to craft her responses to the application essays.

“One of the questions was to write about a time when you faced adversity,” shared Eliza. “I am not sure exactly how I answered that item, but I submitted my application a little more than 24 hours before it was due. Applications are processed in the order in which they came in, so I scolded myself about procrastination.”

Leaving things in God’s hands, Eliza went about her other activities. Decisions were not due to be announced until late February to early May. It was during a day when she took a quick trip home before returning to school to teach swimming lessons that Eliza saw she had a missed call from an unknown number. It was Bill Huizenga’s office.

This was twelve days after Eliza had submitted her application, and just mid-February, which was very early in the decision announcement window. Eliza had sent notes thanking Huizenga and the senators for their nominations. Huizenga acknowledged that he had received Eliza’s thank you note. The note had been sent to West Point. As Eliza verbally thanked him for his support, his response was that West Point had accepted her. That message was followed by one from Elissa Slotkin with the same news and congratulations.

“I was so relieved and excited,” exclaimed Eliza. “I immediately called my mom (Beth Ann) and dad (Kevin) plus relatives.”

Eliza’s journey is truly just beginning. As she completes her senior year, she will be involved in track along with completing her academic studies. She reflected on preparing for graduation along with purchasing items like combat boots and packing for Boot Camp.

Reception Day at West Point will happen on June 29, 2026. This will begin 6 weeks of Basic Training for all the new cadets in what sounds like a very rustic area. In mid-August, there will be a long walk back to campus and a big parade before fall classes begin.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Political issues everyone needs to think about

Dear Editor:

The Trump Tariff program has been a complete failure, and Americans are forced to deal with it. According to independent economists “Trump’s Tariffs led China to a $1 Trillion dollar surplus. This is a revolting development, and it is detrimental for our own economy. This is no different than the six Trump Corporate bankruptcies... (Trump Hotels, Taj Mahal Plaza, Casino, Trump Entertainment Resorts, Trump Shuttle, Trump University). The United States has slipped (or crashed) to its lowest ever ranking in the global corruption index. (According with international panel’s ranking.) It appears that only “Blue” States or people who stood up or questioned him become a product of his vengeance. With one failed lawsuit over another directed by him. He claims vengeance on everyone who speaks against him. Even his MAGA base is going against him. His cabinet members that would never been appointed without the cooperation the Republican Representatives and Congressmen. Most cabinet members have either been brought up on charges or have failed in their duties to represent the citizens of the United States and not to a dictator.

NEVER GO TO WAR??? OUR American Men and Women are being put in “harm’s way”. This little “excursion” has already brought “body bags” back to Dover AirForce Base. Let’s face it. We are unofficially at war. No plans, No objectives, and asking for two billion dollars to go to the Defense Department to extend the little excursion. With rumblings of war in Iran, Cuba, Greenland, Argentina, etc. This is the worse mess our Country has been in. Perhaps if his sons and daughters were in the military, he would have more empathy. It’s as if he is playing with toy soldiers. We all need to look at what is happening to our economy, our rights, our military, etc. and turn up to vote in the Primary to take back our Country.

Reader looking forward to birthright citizenship debate

Dear Editor:

Birthright Citizenship is for the first time being considered by the United States Supreme Court. Why, because for decades businesses are making a lot of money accommodating foreign persons helping them to give birth while visiting the United States (U. S.); they give birth on U. S. soil getting a U. S. Social Security Card for the baby than return to their home country. There are lots of Chinese birthing customers in California. The baby is now forever a U. S. Citizen even if they never live here or never return to the United States.

As usual, there are different views/opinions on birth right citizenship. Perhaps a mere few word definitions can be re-define in the U. S. Constitutions to clarify or interpret or translate words to achieve some kind of desired outcome?

The Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution states that “ [a]ll persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside.”

For now, lets just leave the debate and decision to the United States Supreme Court. However I do have a few simple observations that might be presented during the Supreme Court hearings:

- If a person is vacationing in the U. S. only to give birth, is the baby a citizen?
- If a person on a student visa attending school gives birth, is the baby a citizen?
- If on a temporary work visa and a baby is born, is the baby a citizen?
- If on a temporary diversity visa and a baby is born, is the baby a citizen?
- If on temporary humanitarian exception visa and a baby is born, is the baby a citizen?
- If in the U. S. illegally and a baby is born, is the baby a citizen?

The last example: in order to attend a Rock Concert in New York, the Canadian/United States border is crossed; a baby is born at the Rock Concert; is the baby a United States Citizen?

I’m very interested in hearing the discussion and debate on the few words in the The Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution. I suspect many word contortions, definitions, ... and geriatric maneuvers will be outstanding, a joy to behold with earth shattering and entertaining discussions.

It’ll be so much fun to see and hear how the words are parsed during the Supreme Court presentations. The Supreme Court decision will be very, very, interesting too.

Up-to-date News Items

Dear Editor:

The political news gets more bizarre as time goes by. It is vital that we know and understand the who and why’s of current happenings.

Corey Lewandowski, and former member of the Homeland Security staff, said “he could do whatever he wants because Donald Trump would pardon him if need be”. This certainly implies of illegal actions by him. This is not what the power of the pardon that was given to the executive branch of government was supposed to be.

GOP Senator Jon Husted is quoted and videotaped saying “people living below the poverty level do not know how the real world works”. He talked about SNAP recipients having unlimited money and purchasing power. How foolish and uninformed, this is untrue. Propaganda plus!

A recent poll on the Supreme Court found that public confidence is at an all-time low being at 22%. This is very distressing, and a good reason not to have lifetime appointments.

A question was raised on whether an entire administration can be impeached?

Article II Section IV of the Constitution allow this with a simple majority in the House of Representatives and a two-thirds vote in the Senate. This applies to the president, vice president, and cabinet officials for treason, bribery and other high crimes and misdemeanors.

The war thus far has more than 2000 dead, and UNICEF has declared that more than 1100 children have been killed (as time goes on these numbers are bound to increase). Sad news!

There have been an assortment of lies coming out of the White House. One of the more dangerous lies is President Trump claiming the Straits of Hormuz are in great shape. Trump told oil tankers to have more guts and plow through the Straits. An interesting sidelight is that insurance companies have informed those in charge of oil tankers that their insurance will not be covered until a resolution between countries has taken place.

CPAC chairman Matt Schapp says “that girls killed in the bombing in Iran are better off dead” What a disgusting response who maintains his leadership in Republican politics. He also said “we know the United States and Israel attacked a country that poses no serious threat to either country “. Schnapps went on to say that Iran is a “barbaric society” and deserved to be bombed.

March 17,2026 news:

1. Trump boasted “that he could do anything he wanted to Cuba”.
2. Trump also said “I do believe I’ll be having the honor of taking Cuba, that I can do anything I want if you want to know the truth “.
3. Trump also said he li Cuba’s landscape and it could be very lucrative.
4. The Trump Administration said “people who don’t belong here(immigrants) are responsible for the National Debt”. This was said without evidence. How absurd!
5. Tariffs and the Save Act seem to be hurting Republicans in the midterms.
6. Trump’s failures- The Iran War is exposing President Trump’s unfinished for national lea. The world is interconnected and Trump and other people have a say (Trump never understood this). He kept doubling down which showed his inability to led. He didn’t include business executives or economists.

His “I’m the smartest person in the world complex took over”.

7. He,the president, had no one to sue, no rules to manipulate, only hard realities of resource shortages and war.

8. When Trump asked NATO nations for help he got a NO answer.

9. It was not in disagreement with NATO’s article 5 which states when one nation is attacked all members will defend each other because the U.S. was not attacked. His distain and ridiculing NATO members will seldom bring good results.

When a leader praises dictatorships and criticizes Democratic countries, and wants a favor from democratic allies it just will not happen.

Who would have thought after World War II that Germany and Japan would have thriving democracies. What is happening to U.S. political leadership?

The History and Traditions of Easter

Observed each spring, Easter is one of the most significant holidays in the Christian calendar, commemorating the resurrection of Jesus Christ. While its religious importance remains central for many, Easter has also developed a variety of cultural traditions that are widely celebrated around the world.

The origins of Easter are rooted in early Christianity, with the holiday marking the culmination of Holy Week, which includes Good Friday, the day believed to commemorate the crucifixion of Jesus. According to the New Testament, Easter Sunday celebrates his resurrection, symbolizing hope, renewal, and new life. Unlike fixed-date holidays, Easter is observed on the first Sunday following the first full moon after the spring equinox, causing it to fall between late March and mid-April.

Over time, Easter traditions expanded beyond religious observance to include seasonal and cultural elements. Many of these customs are tied to themes of spring and renewal. Eggs, for example, have long been symbols of new life and rebirth. In early Christian communities, eggs were often forbidden during Lent, making them a celebratory food at Easter. The practice of decorating eggs eventually developed, evolving into the colorful Easter eggs seen today.

The Easter Bunny, a popular figure especially in the United States, has its roots in European folklore. German immigrants are believed to have brought the tradition of an egg-laying hare to America in the 18th century. Over time, the character became associated with delivering candy and eggs to children, much like Santa Claus at Christmas.

Easter baskets, egg hunts, and festive meals have also become common traditions. Families often gather for meals featuring dishes such as ham, lamb, and seasonal desserts. Community events, including egg hunts and parades, further reflect the holiday’s blend of religious and cultural celebration.

Despite its evolution, the central themes of Easter remain consistent. Whether observed through church services or family traditions, the holiday continues to emphasize renewal, hope, and the arrival of spring. Its enduring appeal lies in its ability to bring together both spiritual meaning and shared celebration, marking a time of reflection and new beginnings.

LIVING WITH GRIEF

BY RONNIE EWING/ AFTERCARE SPECIALIST

LIVING WITH GRIEF, is a monthly column provided by GordenFuneral Residence. Each month LIVING WITH GRIEF will feature some helpful advice as you the reader move forward through your personal grieving process, or simply want to be educated to help those whom you may know have recently experienced a loss, or traumatic event.

Sometimes the hardest step in moving forward, is the first. Give yourself grace! And know this, that it is rare, to not have to take 5 step backwards shortly after step numero uno.... Its been my experience the past couple of months to do just that. In my line of work, triggers are unavoidable. I mean, give me a break, I work in the death care industry. Shortly after my Mom had passed, I officiated my first service, after hers. I wasn't quite sure what that was going to be like, especially if the loved one was relatable to my memory of my Mom. But, after a love one passes, in my line of work you just cant quit, and find a new line of work. So what do you do? Move on. Realize this, the world does not pause for you to pick up and go. Some find a support group, or therapy. That's great in all, but to be honest, there is nothing more satisfying than facing your giants and tell them where to go!!! Oh, and people your loved one had in their everyday, OMG! They can either be an asset, or a pain in the asset! Follow?

But please hear me out, and give yourself a break.. There is no true or fixed way to deal with grief, one minute you are laughing and the next minute you are standing in line at Menards or Home Depot because you flipped out and remodeled your house in some way shape or form. (Guilty)

And thats just that, the reality of, LIVING WITH GRIEF.

Child Abuse Prevention is emphasized during April

By Gari Voss

When Benjamin Franklin offered “An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure”, he was advising the people of Philadelphia about fire threats in 1736. As the 2026 calendar rolls into April, ‘prevention’ again becomes the focal point for the people of Allegan County and beyond, but not for fire. April is Child Abuse Prevention Month. Safe Harbor Children’s Advocacy Center is gearing up to assist in bringing an end to these terrible occurrences of child abuse and neglect.

Safe Harbor
Safe Harbor Children’s Advocacy Center is a nonprofit organization that provides hope and healing for child victims of abuse and neglect. The sad fact is that everyday children in Allegan County suffer physical, mental, and/or sexual abuse. The services offered at no cost to child victims and their families are provided in one location.

Safe Harbor Children’s Advocacy Center assists hundreds of children each year. The organization is a buffer between the abused/neglected children and the court system. Because of the talented Safe Harbor staff, children can receive services in warm, caring surroundings which includes information required by law enforcement agencies.

Children feel more comfortable when in an atmosphere that has a playroom, fun interview rooms, and even a room for a physical exam. Everything is softened up and feels welcoming.

Three programs are housed at Safe Harbor. There is the Beverly Schroeder Advocacy Center (CAC), Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) Program, and the Prevention Education Program. Services are coordinated between these staff members.

Expanding understanding of how to recognize and report abuse and neglect can begin to reduce the numbers of children affected. This means that fewer children will experience the fears and residual effects of abuse and neglect.

Allegan County Data
Michigan Child Abuse Statistics demonstrate that 51% of Michigan adults shared that they had experienced some form of abuse in their childhood. Allegan County is a bit less with 49%. In Allegan County, adults who had Physical Abuse as a child was 31% with Michigan at 27%. Those suffering Verbal Abuse was 38% with Michigan registering 40%. Adults who suffered Sexual Abuse was 19% in Allegan County with Michigan at 14%. Those who had been Touched Sexually showed Allegan County at 17% and Michigan at 12%. Adults who had been forced to touch an adult sexually when then they were a child was at 10% in Allegan County with 9% Michigan-wide. Statistics for those who were forced to have sex in Allegan County was not available while Michigan was at 5%.

Childhood trauma brings toxic stress that can harm a child’s brain and physical development. Severe ongoing stress can cause a child’s body systems to get stuck and can disrupt brain development. The more incidents a child experiences, the riskier their health behaviors and vulnerability to chronic diseases like cancer, diabetes, stroke, heart disease, and depression as they move through adulthood.

Pinwheel Garden
In years past, Safe Harbor Children’s Advocacy Center has held an Open House and created a Pinwheel Garden in front of their facility on Sherman Street. This presented a visual reminder that April focuses on raising awareness of child abuse and neglect. Safe Harbor has led the charge so to speak in Allegan, Barry, and Van Buren Counties to educate the public on not only the high incidents of abuse and neglect, but how everyone can become educated in recognizing when a child is in a harmful situation and how to respond.

For anyone who would like to continue the practice of displaying the playful pinwheels, contacting Safe Harbor at 269 673-3791 will lead to the appropriate provider of pinwheels. The blue and silver pinwheels represent a child’s whimsy and delightful vision of the world, and all children should have an opportunity to experience the fun of being a child in a safe environment. It is hoped that the pinwheels will remind everyone of the need to assist in preventing these heinous actions towards children.

Wear Blue Day – April 10, 2026
To signal the beginning of Child Abuse Prevention Month, Friday, April 10, 2026, is designated as Wear Blue Day 2026. The Children Trust Michigan leads this initiative as another visual to raise awareness of abuse and promote safe, nurturing environments for all children. People are invited to take photos of those wearing blue attire and share those photos at #MIWearsBlue and #CAP-Month2026.

18th Annual Lifeline Gala, April 23, 2026, 6pm
Register by Wed., April 8, 2026

In order to provide high-quality services for children suffering from abuse or neglect, funds must be secured. For Safe Harbor, these funds come from a combination of grants and donations. On Thursday, April 23, 2026, Safe Harbor will hold their 18th Annual Lifeline Gala with cocktails, strolling buffet, music by DJ John Kloska, extraordinary raffle items, and the live Buttons for Bravery auction at the Silo on M-40 South in Allegan.

The Safe Harbor Board of Directors and staff realize that the greatest supporters in providing “lifelines” to victims of child abuse and neglect are the people in the community. When a community comes together for a common cause, wonderful things happen.

The Buttons for Bravery Live Auction brings surprises, but if an individual, organization, or business is unable to attend, they can still support the services provided to children with a monetary donation or item for the Silent Auction. Sponsorships made before the Gala are important. A Lifeline Sponsorship of $5,000 will give the underwriter a large banner, logo in the program, up to 16 tickets to the event, and social media recognition; Anchor Sponsorship of $2,500 will give the underwriter a small banner, their logo in the program, up to ten tickets to the event, and social media recognition; Lighthouse Sponsorship of $1,000 garners logo in the program, 4 tickets, and social media recognition; and Harbor Sponsorship at $500 gets a name in the program, 2 tickets, and social media recognition. Sponsorships donations can be made before the Gala in order to be recognized in the program and during the festivities.

During the live auction, Buttons for Bravery will be auctioned. No matter the size of the gift, child victims of abuse and neglect will have a safe place to begin healing. To assist in understanding what a donation can offer, the following examples are ways to assist: counseling sessions, a medical exam, a forensic interview for a child and/or an advocacy session with a caregiver.

The underwriting sponsor for the Lifeline Gala 2026 is KMOTION Design with the Dessert Sponsors are Lafayette Creamery and Four Roses.

Prevention
Prevention can focus on children and adults. During April, and other months, the general public is asked to become familiar with Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) and begin working together to create solutions for their own communities. For more information, go to miacc.org. Honor the value of positive childhood experiences that can promote long-term health and well-being. For additional information check positiveexperience.org. Several hundred gather for “No Kings” rally

By Gari Voss

The Roundabout at the intersection of M-89, and M-40 along with Ely, Cedar and Hubbard Streets filled with area citizens who are concerned with the current administration in Washington, DC. Several hundred people gathered with signs expressing their fears and wishes. On March 28, 2026, the No Kings Protests happened in cities of all sizes across the United States and even internationally. This was not the first time that the call went out and people answered.

All age groups, religious denominations and political backgrounds gathered for a variety of reasons whether in the United States or at international sites. Although the causes may have differed from place to place, people wanted to demonstrate their response to inequality, declining standards of living, corruption, democratic backsliding, and authoritarianism.

Most recently in the United States, the concerns have risen from President Trump’s executive orders against not only immigrants but people of color who are U.S. citizens or immigrants working toward citizenship, and against his constant rhetoric and legal actions to “punish” anyone who has investigated his past dealings.

Several of those gathered in Allegan had picked up on the mantra that when Epstein’s name is uttered, another bomb falls as a distraction. Vehicles of all makes, models and sizes, including 16 and 18-wheelers, circled the roundabout honking and giving thumbs up to those standing in the springlike weather.

What’s Important to you? Let’s Talk.

Wayland Ford plan moves forward

By Joseph Schultz

Last January, the Hopkins Township Board sent a request from Wayland Ford, to permanently rezone nine acres on 12th Street, south of 135th Avenue, from C-1 Neighborhood Business District to C-2 General Business District, back to the Planning Committee to answer questions about the proposal.

Tuesday night, the same group was back at the Hopkins Planning Commission. This time, they were requesting a conditional rezone of the property. Mike Houseman of Wolverine Building Group told the commission that due to the lack of water and sewer lines in the area, the proposed dealership would need to have a well and drainage fields for the septic system. Houseman stated that the conditional rezone was similar to a proposal that was approved in 2020. That conditional rezone expired after 18 months due to Wayland Ford’s inability to move forward during the pandemic.

Many of the questions from the neighbors attending the meeting were about future development of the neighboring parcels along 12th Street. Houseman did not know of any future plans, stating that the family that owns the land was not going to develop it but had it up for sale. Lori Castello of Professional Code Inspections (PCI) explained to the commission that the C-2 designation would lock the site down for use as an automobile dealership. The C-1 designation is more of a generic commercial use.

Planning Commissioners agreed to recommend approval to the township board for rezoning only the back nine acres from C-1 to C-2, to be used for the purposes of operating a car dealership. If the township board approves the conditional rezone request, Wayland Ford will need to present a site plan to the Planning Commission before the 18-month conditional approval expires.

Goals for 2026

The Planning Commission stated several goals for the new year. One such goal is to audit the special use permits that have been approved to see if property owners are in compliance with the conditions of those permits.

Another goal is the formation of a Purchase of Development Rights (PDR) & Agricultural Preservation Board. The township is currently seeking volunteers to serve on this new board.

Crafting a data center ordinance is another goal the commission wishes to accomplish. With no known interest for a data center in the township, Castello of PCI stated that the township has the choice of whether or not to impose a moratorium. A moratorium could only be used to provide time to craft an ordinance; it could not be used to simply prevent an organization from building a data center in the township.

Castello also clarified a misunderstanding regarding the differences between data centers and Solar, Wind, and BESS (Battery Energy Storage System) projects. Data centers are considered industrial and would need to be located on land zoned for industrial purposes. Conversely, solar, wind, and BESS projects are considered agricultural uses and must be situated on land zoned for agriculture.

Solar Application in April

Castello informed the commissioners that NorthStar Clean Energy – Allegan Solar LLC would be submitting an application for a solar project in Hopkins Township. While NorthStar requested a hearing in April, Castello noted that the application is too extensive for the township to review in such a short timeframe.

A representative from NorthStar told the commission that they could still attend the April meeting to provide a preliminary overview of the project. A full, formal review would then take place in the following months.

Dorr planners recommend PUD to township board

By David Young

The Dorr Township Planning Commission Tuesday night voted 6-0 to recommend the Sustainable Business Park request for a planned unit development (PUD) be submitted to the Township Board next month.

Proponents of the park which relies heavily on recycling practices, say it’s in Dorr’s best interests to have their plan rather than simply allow the Kent County landfill move in by the year 2030.

The Sustainable Business Park won the blessings of the Planning Commission and the Township Board in 2021, but the project stalled because of the Covid pandemic and the anchor tenant filed for bankruptcy.

Darwin Baas, who is overseeing the project on behalf of Kent County, said this park will be scaled back this time and the new anchor tenant will be Kent County, which will maintain ownership.

The business park will move into the northeast portion of Dorr Township on 146th Avenue and plans call for improvements for that avenue and 14th Street, 100th Street and Clyde Park.

Baas said, “The idea behind this project is (simply) to not build a landfill (at the Dorr location, which takes in 250 acres.

Though the Planning Commission’s hearing focused on the business park, many citizens in attendance spoke a lot about a data center that Microsoft plans to install in Dorr. The commission adamantly insisted that the two projects have nothing to do with each other.

Linda Dumond asked what advantages the business park would be for Dorr Township. Planning Commission Chairman Dan Beute replied, “I’d rather not have a mountain of more trash move into Dorr Township.”

Some residents suggested the project is getting a rubber stamp from Planning Commission and Township Board members. Beute said this project has been in the works for as many as eight years.

Darwin Baas

Kim Donker asked how many agricultural acres are being lost by the urban sprawl and Laura Byrd insisted that “We’re going to need farm land (in the future) to grow food.”

Commissioners said the business park plans do not encroach on land suitable for farming.

Baas pointed out that Kent County at one time had as many as 20 landfills, but now, he added, Allegan County has no such facilities.

He also noted that landfills do not pay taxes because they are regarded as public services.

Baas reiterated that a data center isn’t and wasn’t even on the business park project’s radar.

“Data centers are not in the mix,” he said. “But we need to have the ability to adapt and change in the nature of handling trash.”

All six commissioners present voted to approve recommending the project again to the Township Board. Commissioner Dan Weber was absent because he is recuperating from surgery.

In other Township Planning

Commission business:

A request to rezone a parcel on 144th Avenue and U.S.-131 by Dirk VandeBunte was turned down because it was too close to Moline Christian School and would be disruptive. VandeBunte said the parcel in question is no longer suitable for agriculture, the commission also approved requests for concrete curb and gutter requirements for developments, a text amendment for battery energy storage systems and amending the existing solar ordinance. All will be sent to the Township Board next month.

Dorr interviews four for vacant trustee seat

By Joseph Schultz

The Dorr Township Board met Thursday night to interview four candidates for an open trustee position. The seat became vacant when Chandler Stanton announced his resignation last month.

James Riemersma, Gordon Lieffers, Terri Rios, and Jim Schaendorf were interviewed at the meeting. Schaendorf was interviewed over the phone because he was on vacation in Florida.

Riemersma has lived in Dorr since 2007 and is a general contractor by trade. Given his background, Riemersma feels he can help the township better understand construction matters.

Lieffers has lived in Dorr since 1996; he has taught at St. Stanislaus School, served on the Planning Commission, and currently sits on the Library Board.

Rios served on the township board from 2016 to 2020, as well as on the Planning Commission.

Schaendorf served on the Dorr Fire Department and worked in construction. He currently manages the books for his family’s dairy farm.

There was a notable argument between Schaendorf and former trustee Stanton at the last board meeting. After introducing himself, Schaendorf took a moment to apologize to the board for his conduct.

The following are the questions the board asked and the answers provided:

Why do you want to be on the board?

Riemersma stated that he wants to contribute to the township and be proud of what he sees in town.

Lieffers wants local businesses to thrive and aims to represent all residents.

Rios was motivated to join the board by concerns regarding the health effects of data centers. “I want to make sure that our community stays safe.”

Schaendorf shared similar concerns regarding the data centers. Attracting medical facilities and retirement homes was another reason he chose to seek the trustee position.

How do you make decisions?

Rios stated that her belief in God is the first thing she considers, followed by the law.

Schaendorf bases his decisions on finding the facts and determining the truth behind a situation.

By removing emotion from an issue, Riemersma’s decision-making process focuses on the best interests of the township and the safety of its residents.

To cut through misinformation, Lieffers bases his decisions on facts and adherence to local ordinances.

Describe a challenging meeting or group discussion.

Schaendorf described his experience organizing tractor pulls for fairs and festivals. When rain forced him to cancel shows, he often faced upset board members who would argue with or threaten him.

Riemersma noted that in construction, customers often want work done quickly and cheaply. He explained that working with small groups helped him learn to balance speed with cost-effectiveness.

Lieffers cited his time as a Homeowners Association President, specifically when coordinating a road paving project. He added that his experience working with students and administrators also provided valuable practice in handling challenging meetings.

Rios explained that her experience as a nurse taught her that people simply want to be heard. She found that once she truly listened to a challenging patient, she was able to communicate effectively and even joke with them.

When something is presented to the board, who should have all the facts?

Riemersma believes that while the presenter should have the facts, the trustee should also actively seek them out.

Lieffers stated that it is the duty of board members to investigate every matter that comes before them.

Rios and Schaendorf agreed that while the presenter should provide the facts, the board members are also responsible for verifying them.

How do you balance the rights of the property owners with the good of the community?

Lieffers believes compromise is the key to balancing these rights, noting that owners and neighbors are “not going to get everything they want.”

Rios stated she would follow existing laws and prioritize what is best for the community as a whole.

Schaendorf shared an example of a neighbor who sold their property to a developer. Now he sees a subdivision behind him. The experience taught him to accept change, and follow the law.

Riemersma expressed support for controlled development and following established rules. However, he predicted that whatever is decided regarding the data center is not going to make everyone happy.

What is the biggest challenge and opportunity?

Rios believes the biggest challenge is ensuring everyone gets along, while the biggest opportunity is making Dorr a great place to live.

Schaendorf simply stated that the future itself represents both the biggest challenge and the greatest opportunity for Dorr.

Riemersma noted that compromise would be the biggest challenge, but growth would be the biggest opportunity.

Lieffers identified maintaining Dorr’s rural feel as the biggest challenge. He sees controlled growth as the town’s biggest opportunity.

What do you do if something is proposed that most of the board likes, but you do not?

Riemersma said that in such a situation, he would explain his case in a respectful manner.

Lieffers claimed it is his duty to express his concerns; he noted he could vote “no” but should explain his reasoning.

Rios pointed out that the board consists of seven different opinions. She believes the best way to state a disagreement is to speak calmly without attacking others.

Schaendorf reserved the right to vote against a proposal and to state clearly why he was in opposition to it.

Conclusion

After hearing from the four candidates, Township Clerk Debbie Sewers said, “I think Dorr Township is very lucky.” Township Supervisor Jeff Milington agreed, noting that all four were excellent candidates.

The township board will appoint the new trustee at the next meeting on April 23. However, Sewers reminded the candidates that this appointment would only last until November. To remain on the board beyond that, they must appear on the election ballot. Candidates have until 4:00 p.m. on April 21 to file the necessary paperwork to be included on the ballot.

Lingbeek shines as Bulldogs sweep Plainwell

By JASON WESSELDYK
SPORTS EDITOR

PLAINWELL—It was a night to remember for Otsego’s Audrey Lingbeek. The senior softball stand-out dominated with her bat and her arm, throwing a three-inning perfect game in the opener of a twin bill with Plainwell and hitting for the cycle in the night-cap. That performance led the Bulldogs to the sweep, 15-0 and 18-1.

Lingbeek struck out seven of the nine batters she faced in Game 1, which was stopped after three innings due to the mercy rule. She set the tone early and never let up, overpowering Plainwell hitters while the Bulldogs’ offense built a quick lead.

“Audrey has been a fun player to coach for the past four years,” Otsego coach Jake Knash said. “She just wants to go out with a solid senior year and give her team her best.”

At the plate, Otsego wasted no time backing up Lingbeek, scoring three runs in the first inning, five in the second and seven in the third.

Emma Zimmerman led a 10-hit attack, going 3-for-4 with three runs. Sydneigh Mosher (2-for-3 with two runs and an RBI) also had multiple hits.

Otsego carried that momentum into Game 2, led by Lingbeek.

She went 4-for-4 with a home run, a triple, a double, three runs and four RBI. That made her 5-for-5 in the doubleheader, with a walk and a sacrifice fly.

“She was really seeing the ball well tonight,” Knash said of Lingbeek. “Hitting for the cycle — that was special.”

Lingbeek wasn’t alone in pacing the Otsego offense in the second game. Mikayla

Bateman went 3-for-3 with three runs; Rylee Knash finished 4-for-4 with a double, three runs and two RBI; and Addy Lucas added a 3-for-4 performance with a double, two runs and five RBI.

Maddie Back also had multiple hits, going 2-for-3 with three runs and two RBI.

Otsego also received strong work in the circle.

Lucas started and worked the first two innings, helping keep Plainwell off balance early with a run on a hit and two strikeouts. Then Rylee Knash took over and pitched the final three innings to earn the win, striking out five and walking two.

Kaylyn Siebert accounted for Plainwell’s hit, a second-inning single that scored Tatum Johnson, who led off the inning with a walk.

“Our defense and pitching were solid tonight,” Coach

Knash said. “We really limited Plainwell’s offense. “We have solid team. We had a rough start against Three Rivers last week, but this team is ready to battle.”

PLAINWELL—It didn’t look promising for the Plainwell baseball team through five innings in the opener of its doubleheader with Otsego on Monday, March 30.

But the Trojans delivered when it mattered most.

Trailing 7-5, Plainwell erupted for four runs in the bottom of the sixth inning, then held off Otsego in the seventh to secure a 9-7 comeback victory in the first game of a Wolverine Conference doubleheader.

The Trojans added a walkoff win in the nightcap, as CJ Laninga delivered an RBI single in the bottom of the fifth to snap a 3-3 tie.

The game was stopped after five innings due to darkness.

Plainwell’s rally in the opener included an RBI single from Luke Filkins. CJ Laninga and Brady Howard also drove in runs in the frame.

Hampton then took the mound for Plainwell in the seventh inning and fired a scoreless frame with a pair of strikeouts to earn the save.

Hampton, Urijah Davis and Landon Nienhuis each collected two hits for the Trojans. Hampton drove in two runs and Davis scored twice.

Howard picked up the win, tossing 2.2 innings of relief, allowing one unearned run while striking out one. Luke Filkins started for Plainwell, striking out five and surrendering six runs in 3.1 innings.

Otsego had its own offensive moments in the opener, led by Karl Hildebrand with two hits and three RBI. Brennan Perry added a hit and two RBI, while Jaxon Ray also drove in a run.

In Game 2, Plainwell wasted no time grabbing control.

The Trojans scored three runs in the bottom of the first inning, with Laninga and Howard each driving in a run.

But Otsego singles single runs in the first, third and fifth innings to knot the score at 3-3.

In the bottom of the fifth, Laninga delivered the game-winner with a single to score Hampton, who reached base via a one-out single.

Hampton finished with two hits and two runs scored. Davis, Laninga and Howard each singled.

On the mound, Hampton started and went three innings, allowing two runs while striking out four. Laninga picked up the win in relief, giving up one run over two innings with two strikeouts.

Otsego was led by Ray, who drove in two runs with one hit, while Perry, Hildebrand and Matthew Jackson each added a hit.

Jackson took the tough-luck loss, allowing just the run in the bottom of the fifth in four innings of work. He allowed three hits with three walks. Bailey started for Otsego and worked a third of an inning, allowing three runs on two hits and two walks.

HAMILTON—It was a promising start to the outdoor season for the Allegan track and field teams at the Hamilton Early Season Invitational on Monday, March 30.

The Allegan girls placed fourth overall with 64 points, while the boys finished sixth with 34 points in the early-season meet.

The girls were highlighted by a record-breaking performance from Bailee Dilley, who set a new school record in the pole vault with a clearance of 11-1. The mark was also a personal best and earned her meet champion honors.

Dilley added to her strong showing by recording three additional personal records in the 100-meter dash, 200-meter dash and long jump, finishing in the top four in all three events.

Jayden VandenAkker also had a standout night, capturing first-place finishes in the 100-meter hurdles, 300-meter hurdles and high jump. Her high jump mark of 5-0 was also a new personal best.

Anna Billman turned in a strong effort in the 1,600-meter run, setting a personal record with a time of 6:51.93 in just her second race of the season.

The meet also marked the varsity debut for Ireland Dewey.

On the boys side, Allegan capped the night with a first-place finish in the 1,600-meter relay, as the team of Kellan Chalupa, Loghan Murphy, Brody McDade and Levi Earl closed out the meet with a win.

McDade added a third-place finish in the 100 and placed eighth in the 200, while Ezra Smith cleared 10-6 in the pole vault to take third.

Murphy placed fourth in the 800 with a time of 2:13.19, and Chalupa finished sixth in the 1,600 while setting a personal record of 4:43.34.

Several other Tigers recorded personal bests, including Thomas Sigler in the 3,200, Earl in the 200, John DeLaet in both the pole vault and 200 and Hawk Henrickson in the discus.

The Allegan girls soccer team picked up a hard-fought 1-0 victory over Holland Black River on Friday, March 27, handing the visitors their first loss of the season.

Black River entered the match at 3-0, but the Tigers were able to capitalize early and then hold firm the rest of the way in cold and windy conditions.

The lone goal came in the first half, when sophomore Elana Byers delivered a well-placed through ball to the wing. Fellow sophomore Aubrey Fulton used her speed to get behind the defense and finished the play with about 20 minutes remaining before halftime.

From there, Allegan’s defense took over.

Senior goalkeeper Mya Corbett anchored the back line, using strong positioning and making several key saves to preserve the shutout.

Allegan created additional scoring opportunities in the second half, but was unable to add to its lead, with several shots narrowly missing the target. Still, the Tigers maintained their composure and did enough defensively to secure the win.

“This win marks my first career varsity win as head coach, and I couldn’t be prouder of the way the girls competed and executed the game plan,” Allegan coach Stu McLean said. “It was a great team effort against a strong Black River side.”

Allegan tennis takes first place at home invitational

By Jason Wesseldyk
SPORTS EDITOR

In an event loaded with Division 4 powerhouses, the Allegan girls tennis team proved it could go toe-to-toe with anyone.

The host Tigers edged NorthPointe Christian to win the Allegan Invitational on Saturday at the Gary Ellis Courts, finishing with 20 points to the Mustangs' 18 in a tightly contested field that included four teams ranked in the top eight in Division 4.

In addition to Allegan and NorthPointe Christian, the field included St. Catherine, Grand Rapids West Catholic, Whitehall and Black River.

St. Catherine finished third with 12 points, followed by West Catholic (11), Whitehall (8) and Black River (3).

The outcome came down to the final match of the day at No. 4 doubles.

With Allegan holding a slim 19-18 lead after the other flights had wrapped up, the team of Kaylee Haas and Hailey Gauthier found itself in a decisive 10-point tie-breaker. The duo delivered under pressure, pulling out a 10-8 win to secure the outright championship for the Tigers.

Allegan also went 4-3 in head-to-head matchups against NorthPointe Christian.

Addy Fales led the way at No. 1 singles, claiming the championship with straight-set wins in each of her matches, including a 6-1, 6-4 victory over NorthPointe Christian in the finals.

The Tigers added three more flight titles in doubles.

At No. 2 doubles, the team of Taylor Fuller and Hanna Kievit captured the championship, while Sophia Augustine and Emma Scheffler took first at No. 3 doubles.

Haas and Gauthier's clutch performance secured the No. 4 doubles title.

Camdyn Drozd finished runner-up at No. 2 singles, while Madison Cook and Ireland Dewey placed second at No. 1 doubles.

Kendall Halstead (No. 3 singles) and Ava Thompson (No. 4 singles) each placed third for Allegan, adding to the team's depth throughout the lineup.

Serenity Puente and Alexys Blank finished fifth at No. 5 doubles, while Haley Mellon and Alice Tange placed fourth at the second No. 5 doubles flight.

Girls Tennis Season Preview:

By Jason Wesseldyk
SPORTS EDITOR]

ALLEGAN

With a deep, experienced lineup and plenty of talent across the board, Allegan enters the 2026 season with high expectations—and a target on its back.

Coming off a season that included conference and regional championships along with a sixth-place finish at the Division 4 State Finals, the Tigers return the bulk of that roster and appear poised for another strong run.

“We certainly have a target on our back for the conference and regional outlook,” Allegan coach Damien Arthur said. “This is one of the most talented teams I have had in my tenure, and we have a legitimate shot at a state runner-up finish this spring if we stay determined and healthy.”

Leading the way is senior Addy Fales at No. 1 singles, while sophomore Kendall Halstead is expected to compete at No. 3 singles. Freshman Camdyn Drozd steps into the No. 2 singles spot, highlighting a singles lineup that mixes youth with high-level upside.

“Don’t look down on our youth on the singles side,” Arthur said. “We have talent there with lots of upside.”

Experience is especially evident on the doubles side, where Allegan returns a veteran group that includes seniors Madison Cook and junior Ireland Dewey at No. 1 doubles, seniors Hanna Kievit and Taylor Fuller at No. 2 doubles, and seniors Sophia Augustine and Emma Scheffler at No. 3 doubles. Junior Kaylee Haas is back at No. 4 doubles, joined by freshman Hailey Gauthier.

In total, the Tigers bring back five All-State caliber players in Fales, Dewey, Cook, Kievit and Fuller.

“Our doubles lineup alone has 17 seasons of varsity experience,” Arthur said. “That’s uncommon, and it showed in how we competed last season.”

Additional depth comes from players such as junior Serenity Puente and freshman Addison Martin and Ava Thompson, giving Allegan flexibility throughout its lineup.

That depth will be key in what Arthur expects to be a competitive SAC/Lakeland Conference race.

“On paper, it looks like a two-horse race between us and Kalamazoo Christian,” he said. “They return a lot of experience as well. Hackett could be a wild card, too.”

Allegan finished 8-1-5 overall and 7-0-2 in conference play last season, and Arthur believes this year’s team has the tools to build on that success.

“Our top 14 players can compete with anyone on our schedule,” he said. “The girls know what they want to accomplish, and they do a great job of taking it one day at a time.”

OTSEGO

With a mix of experienced returners and emerging talent, Otsego is aiming to be a factor in the conference race this season.

The Bulldogs, under second-year coach Melissa Garrett, bring back a solid core of players who have gained valuable varsity experience and continued to develop during the offseason.

“This team has a lot of grit and is ready to get out there and prove we have what it takes this season,” Garrett said.

Leading the way is senior Hailey Burd, who returns to the No. 1 singles spot. Garrett said Burd’s offseason work should pay dividends this spring.

“She’s a consistent player with a lot of power behind her shots,” Garrett said.

Senior Ellie Korringa, a four-year varsity player, also moves into the singles lineup, while junior Lydia Griffith returns for her third varsity season.

Sophomore Alie Bronson is expected to contribute at singles as well after making the switch from doubles.

In doubles play, Otsego features a strong No. 1 team in juniors Sara McCaw and Stella Houseman, with McCaw bringing a powerful serve and Houseman providing a strong presence at the net.

Seniors Hope Stender and Laney Sweet add experience to the doubles lineup, with Garrett highlighting Stender’s speed and net play and Sweet’s consistency on the court.

Otsego also welcomes a group of newcomers who could make an impact, including freshman Mila Garrett and junior Rachel Breese.

“Mila has a tough serve and a competitive drive, and Rachel brings a positive attitude and strong work ethic,” Garrett said.

Additional players such as sophomores Emma Gibson and Juni Sission and freshman Brooklynn Cockerel are new to the varsity level but have already shown potential.

Garrett said the Bulldogs are entering the season in a strong position thanks to their offseason work.

“Many of these players hit all winter and played in tournaments, so we’re starting the season in a great spot,” she said.

Otsego showed that progress during a preseason scrimmage against Portage Central and Allegan, competing well against strong opponents.

The Bulldogs finished 9-3-3 last season and claimed the Plainwell Quad title. Korringa also earned first-team all-conference honors and won a regional championship at No. 4 singles.

With a competitive mindset and continued development, Garrett believes Otsego can be in the mix this season.

“We expect to be in the running for the conference title,” she said.

WAYLAND

Experience and leadership should be strengths for Wayland this season, as the Wildcats return a large senior class and a solid core of varsity contributors.

Wayland brings back several key players, including seniors Teagan Robinson, Emily Omness, Hayden Keena, Maizie Bollone and Charlotte Markoski, along with juniors Lauren Bultsma and Hannah Bogema.

That experience provides a strong foundation for a team focused on steady improvement throughout the spring.

“We’re excited about the mix of experience and new talent on this year’s team,” Wayland coach Seth Beat said. “With a large senior class, leadership and experience will be key strengths for us.”

Wayland also adds a group of newcomers who have already shown the ability to compete at the varsity level, including sophomores Rhegan Ustishen and Alivia Dreyer along with seniors Alayna Rookus, Kendra Moore and Zoie Ritchie.

“This group brings a lot of energy,” Beat said. “They’ve had strong performances on JV and are ready to contribute.”

Depth and team chemistry are expected to be key strengths for the Wildcats, particularly with so many experienced players returning.

“One of our biggest strengths is our experience and depth,” Beat said. “We also have strong team chemistry and players who are willing to compete and improve.”

As with many teams, developing consistency—especially among newer varsity players—will be an area of focus as the season progresses.

“We’ll continue working on gaining match experience and building consistency across all flights,” Beat said.

The conference race is expected to be competitive, but Beat believes Wayland has the pieces to be in the mix.

“Our conference should be very competitive this season,” he said. “We believe we can be competitive and put ourselves in a solid position as the season progresses.”

Wayland finished in the middle of the conference standings a year ago, but with added experience and depth, the Wildcats are aiming to build on that foundation this spring.

Tigers open baseball year at Kalamazoo: Allegan high school will open its 1951 baseball season this afternoon when they travel to Kalamazoo to meet the State High Cubs. This game will open a 12 game schedule that coach Peckham crew.

Peckham announced that veteran pitcher Bob Gilpin and little Don Godfrey behind the plate will provide the starting battery in Thursday's encounter.

A few of the starting positions are still open due to cold, wet weather which has prevented Coach Peckham to look the boys over in action.

Around the infield it will be Warren DeLano on the initial sack and he should do well this year as he improved considerable last year. Each of the other positions are being fought for by two or more players. Jack Miller and George Myers, both lettermen are battling it out for second base with Jack Nash and Soph Roger Newman competing for shortstop. Jack Wells, veteran third sacker, is being given a battle by Freshman Roger Smith.

Loss of arms no handicap: Charlene Kuehn drove her car into a neighbor's driveway about 4 p.m. the other day and hopped out of her car to talk with a friend.

Nothing particularly unusual about the act — except that when Mrs. Kuehn closed the car door she used metal hooks instead of hands.

An employee of the Van Buren County Intermediate School District, Mrs. Kuehn lost her hands and arms when a youngster and now teaches children who cannot attend public schools.

Does she consider the loss of her hands a handicap? No, she says, quickly.

In fact, she can knit with her toes, play the organ, cook and keep house — the fact that she lost her arms at such an early age, she said, has helped her make the adjustments necessary to cope with the situation.

The accident happened in August 1946 after she and her sister persuaded her father, Mert Fish, to let them ride the horses while he was mowing a field of hay near Rockford. Both girls fell off the horses, Charlene falling into the mower.

Four years old at the time she was fitted for artificial limbs the next January, the first of a series of limbs needed as she grew. Later, her mother told her it seemed there was never anything she couldn't do that her sisters were able to and that as a youngster she never needed special training.

Hobby becomes passion: A tattered sweater may remind one of raking leaves and the smell of roasting sticks and hot-dogs. A romantic evening could be told through a vase of dried roses. Home-made quilts of Barbara Perrin tell of her work ethic, dedication, values and loving devotion for her family and friends.

"The reason I learned how to sew was because my mom wanted me to help out."

Perrin has been a resident on the outskirts of Pullman her whole life. Perrin's mother, Barbara, began her oldest daughter sewing at age 9. However, Perrin's grandmother, Ann Radseck Latchaw, had a beautiful piece of yellow material that she gave Perrin at 5-years-old to do with whatever she wished. Although the outfit made wasn't a fashion statement, Perrin learned the valuable lesson of selfless love from her grandmother.

Perrin participated in 4-H with instructors Ella Hogle and Marge Jerue. She said of Jerue, "Had it not been for her, I wouldn't have learned to sew. She took me aside and helped me."

Perrin loved her new talent and when she wasn't helping on the family's fruit farm, she was sewing. Her first project was an apron. George Latchaw, Perrin's father, took pride in his daughter's work and aided her in her first business. Latchaw worked in Allegan at Perrigo and the workers would purchase the aprons for $3 to $4. Perrin's next business venture was selling her own crafted dolls. She later went on to Western Michigan University to receive a bachelor of science degree in home economics education.

"I saw a quilt that I liked and knew the only way to get that was to make it myself," she said.

In 1995, Perrin found the love of quilting. She became a member of the West Michigan Quilt Guild and has participated in numerous competitions, receiving best of show for years in a row, $1,000 won in one show and the honor of having her work displayed at the American Quilter's Society 17th Annual International Competition from April 25 to April 28.

Clippers fall to Fowler in state quarterfinals:

Fowler's Riley sisters made life difficult for Martin in the Division 4 girls basketball state quarterfinal game played at Loy Norrix High School on Monday, April 5.

Junior Mia Riley and sophomore Emma Riley combined for 36 points as the Eagles handed the Clippers a 64-26 loss.

Martin, which was making its first quarterfinal appearance since 1995, finished the season at 12-6.

"We didn't play our best basketball tonight," second-year Martin coach Ben Schipper said. "With as good as we have been playing lately, we were hoping to put together a better effort. But we just weren't able to execute."

"Fowler is an incredible team. We knew they were great at getting to the rim and were aggressive on defense, but they overwhelmed us tonight. Our offense just could not get into the attack mode we needed against their switching defense."

Mia Riley starred for Fowler early, slashing her way to the basket repeatedly in the opening quarter. She finished with 13 points in the opening stanza—including eight in a row to end the quarter—as part of her game-best 20 points.

Martin trailed 20-6 at the end of the first quarter.

Emma Riley, meanwhile, did most of her work from the outside, knocking down four 3-pointers as part of a 16-point effort. As a team, the Eagles buried 10 triples.

"Defensively, we were hoping to take away their 3-point threats and rotate to protect the rim on the backside, then scramble out if needed," Schipper said. "Unfortunately, (Mia Riley) and their guards got to the rim much more than we hoped and their shooters were lights out. Congratulations to them on an outstanding effort."

Speaking of outstanding efforts, freshman Makala Goddard scored 14 points for the Clippers, including a quartet of 3-pointers.

Allegan County Road Commission to build new garage

By John Raffel
Correspondent

ALLEGAN — Former county commissioner James Storey reports that the Allegan County Road Commission (ACRC) has approved construction of a replacement maintenance garage at its Shelbyville site. Storey said the new building will replace a structure constructed in 1977 of 9,600 square feet including office space and restrooms. “As our road maintenance trucks have increased in size, we’ve been limited on the equipment we can locate there as there is no room to store them,” explained ACRC Manage Director Craig Awood told Storey, who added, the new maintenance garage will be 27,317 square feet. “In addition, plans call for an office and storage area of 2,100 square feet. The increased size of the garage will allow us to safely park our trucks and other equipment inside that is needed for the road district the garage covers.

“The new garage also includes a dedicated wash bay and service area with an inground hoist.,” Atwood explained. The Commission has been saving funds for the new building since 2017 and will not need added millage or bonding to fund the $5.9 million needed for the new facility. . . . New millage or bonding is often used by other local governments for building projects. The architect-engineer estimate for the building was $7.8 million.

The Allegan County Road Commission (ACRC) has approved construction of a replacement maintenance garage at its Shelbyville site.

Atwood noted ACRC received 13 bid submissions from contractors, the most its architect had ever experienced. Construction will start in a few weeks and will not interfere with continued use of the current garage, which will be removed when no longer needed. The move into the new facility is expected in December with final completion in early 2027. The Shelbyville Road Commission yard is located at 2594 12th Street. In addition to Shelbyville, the road commission operates maintenance garages in Allegan, Fennville, and Diamond Springs.

Faces in the crowd

This week’s question: What smell or aroma puts a smile on your face? -Man near the Fennville hardware store: “This’ll be an odd one, maybe. Nothing I like better than the smell of my garden when I till it the first time in the spring. Love that fresh dirt.” -Couple, same location; Woman, “I love the smell when you’ve cut the grass.” Man, “Well, if you’d like to mow it, then you could get it up closer.” Woman again, “No, no I don’t think so. I’d have to smell the exhaust from the mower. It’s much better when you do it.” Both laugh. -Young girl with mother, Fennville grocery store: “I like the smell of Gran’s chocolate cookies. Oh! And her perfume. And she gives the best hugs, too.” -Older man in front of the Blue Goose: “You’ll think I’m nuts, but whenever I smell cow manure it reminds me of growing up on the farm. I had cousins from the city and they’d come out for a visit. Now, they didn’t like it but I told them it was the smell of money. They didn’t agree.” Laughs.

-Friend with him, “You ever get stuck behind a [manure] spreader on the road? You’ll get plenty of smells to last a lifetime!” -Man near the Old Jail Museum in Allegan: “You know something? I like to pull into the parking lot at the Village Inn and smell the fryer smoke. Good cooking awaits!” -Woman near the Allegan County Court House: “The smell of old books in a library. If they could bottle that. . . .” -Man, same location, “My wife’s perfume. She liked Shalizar, or something like that. I’d come in the house and. . . .” [We’ll leave it there since this is a family newspaper.] -Couple near the Post Office: Man, “We used to go to a church where the men’s prayer group put on Swiss steak dinners. I don’t know if they still do it or not.” Woman: “I love the smell when I’m peeling an orange. It’s so fresh and makes me smile.” -Young woman near the Allegan City Hall: “My grandfather’s pipe. I’d go to his place on Sunday afternoons and he’d be reading the newspaper, and there was that thin line of smoke going up. I think it was Prince Albert.” -Couple in front of Minnie’s; Man, “Right here. You go in there and smell the food, and you know it’s going to be good.” Woman: “We used to go camping and what I really liked was when we’d have a campfire and you could smell the smoke on your clothes the next day.” -Woman near the Pizza Hut: “I love the smell of Tide laundry soap and the way my clothes and towels come out of the dryer. I just pull them out and hug and smell them.” -Middle aged man near the Wilcox Newspaper office: “Diesel engines. When I was a kid I always wanted to get on a cross country Jack Rabbit [bus]. Never did, but when I smell a diesel, that’s what I think of. Next best thing was my dad’s woodworking shop in the basement.” A friend with him: “Yeah, boy. There is nothing better than walking through a lumber yard.”

RELIGION SECTION

Jesus gives us a real challenge with his words recorded in Matthew 18:3 - 4. He tells us that we will never get into heaven unless we change and become like children. That sounds so very appealing, and yet at the same time, absolutely appalling as well as physically impossible.

I think many of us would like to go back to our own version of the good old days when we were younger. Then I remember Yogi Berra's statement, "Nostalgia ain't what it used to be!" Or, Studs Terkel's books about Chicago from the Great Depression, and the home front during WWII. The people he interviewed remembered the good times and how everyone seemed to pull together for a common cause. They forgot about the hunger, hopelessness, or telegrams from the War Department, fear, and so many other horrible things.

The past was not always as wonderful as we like to believe. Add to it, by now you and I have built our own structures such as emotional walls and barriers, to keep others from getting too close. We have learned how to navigate our way through the world, and the last thing any of us want is some sort of great upheaval that would create chaos.

This passage seemed impossible until I read about ancient Egyptian death rituals. They believed that when a person died their heart was put on one side of a balance scale. Opposite was a single feather. If their heart was heavier than a feather, well, no after-life for you!

When we think of a heavy heart, often it is in terms of sorrow, loss, disappointments from other people, disappointments in our own life, or the guilt of what we did or didn't do. Our sins of commission and omission are often the heaviest burdens.

A pagan culture or not, that gives some insight as to what Jesus meant in this passage in two separate but related areas. First, Jesus said that he had come that we might have life and have it abundantly. If our heart is pre-occupied with all of the negative stuff in our life there is not much room left for abundance. It means we can not fully experience God's kingdom in the here and now.

Second, we know that when we confess our sins and shortcomings, and fully intend to change our way of thinking, speaking, and living, God forgives them. We are free of the burden, and free to become new people. We do not have to continue asking forgiveness for what God has already forgiven.

The passage is indeed a challenge because it requires faith to believe we are forgiven and will be welcomed into heaven. We are forgiven, and can live an abundant and joyous life right now.
